

MANUAL PRODUCTFEEDS

There are different ways to import PerfectPro products on your web store. Choose between the different options based on the system with which you use. Before importing, view the possibilities of your system.

All product feeds are identical and always up to date.

XML FEED

The XML Feed can be downloaded as a .zip file. After extracting, you can load this file on your web store (for example Magento, WordPress, Drupal or any other system). All PerfectPro products are extensively included with all properties so that you can choose which data you import and which you do not.

CSV FEED

Just like the XML file, you can directly download the CSV file and import it into your web store. When importing the CSV feed, consider the correct selection of the separator, which is a comma. During the import, you can use the feed as desired.

GOOGLE SHEETS

Do you manually import products into your webshop? Then you can also choose to use the Google Sheets file to add the PerfectPro radios to your webshop.

In the file you will find, among other things, a product number, the descriptions, the images and available videos per model. In addition, the properties per model are indicated that you can use as a filter in your webshop.

Are you missing an option, or are you having trouble importing? Then consult our support.